

Regulation of charities

Natasha Weight
General Manager, Charities
Services

New Zealand Government

Te Tari Taiwhenua
Internal Affairs

A well-governed,
transparent and thriving
charitable sector that has strong public support

PEOPLE

OVER 230,000
VOLUNTEERS CONTRIBUTING

OVER 1.5 million
HOURS EVERY WEEK

93,301 FULL-TIME PAID STAFF

90,137 PART-TIME PAID STAFF

$$$

$4 BILLION DONATIONS

$58 BILLION TOTAL ASSETS

$18 BILLION TOTAL ANNUAL INCOME

$17 BILLION TOTAL EXPENDITURE

Government Expectations

for Good Regulatory Practice

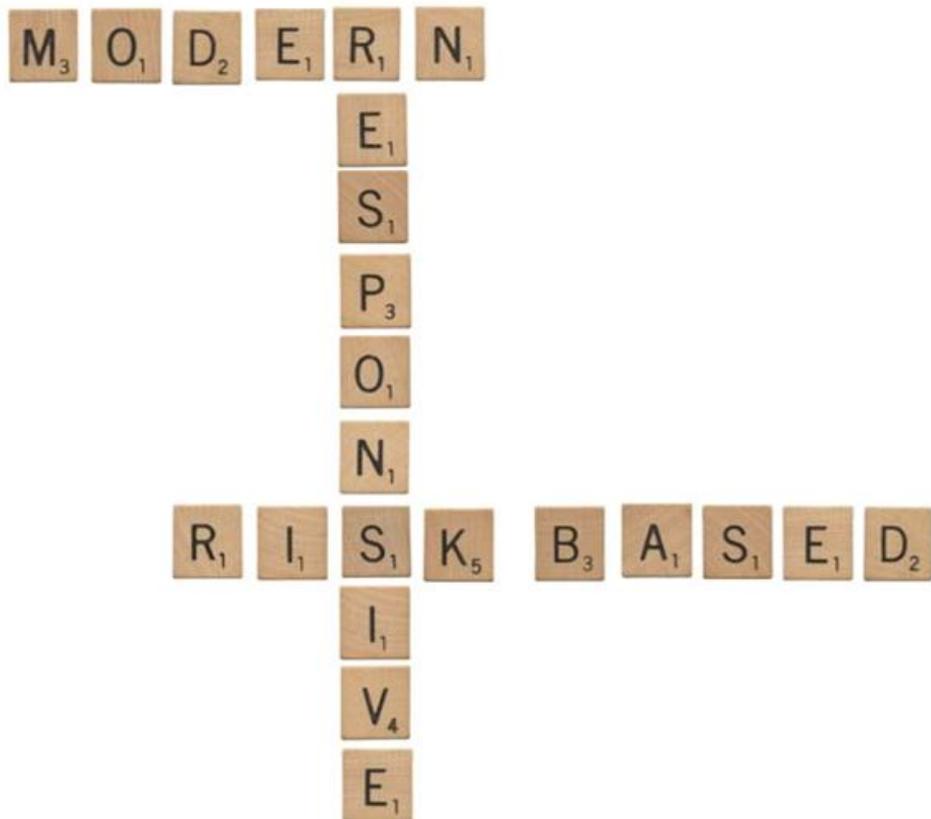

A regulatory agency is any agency ... that has any of the following responsibilities for the whole or part of a regulatory system: monitoring; evaluation; performance reporting; policy advice; policy and operational design; legislative design; implementation; administration; information provision; standard-setting; licensing and approvals; or compliance and enforcement.

Public trust and confidence, and the effective use of charitable resources

Functions

- Registering and deregistering charities
- Monitoring and promoting compliance
- Supporting and educating charities
- Investigating possible breaches of the Act and serious wrongdoing
- Stimulating research

A Clear &
POWERFUL
STRATEGY

Modernisation of the Charities Act

- What do you want to see?
- Your views count